

Governor update September 2009

After attending the Governors meeting last week, the Governors would like to congratulate and show their appreciation to all the Staff for their hard work during the holidays in preparing the school after all the building work and improvements that have taken place. We are sure that the pupils and parents must be as delighted as we were in seeing all the improvements and how much better the working environment is for everyone at our school.

This September has seen four new parent governors elected, and these are Toby Harding, Shaun Jelfs, Julie Payne and Becky Wall who are hoping to help and support the present Governors and Staff at Madley to continue the fantastic work that the School is offering to all our children. There has however become another vacancy for a Parent Governor to join us; so if you feel that you have the time and energy to become involved or would like some more information, please either let Mr Batstone or the Chair of Governors Andy Jones know.

In our role as Parent Governors we would welcome parents to be able to talk to us about their feelings to the improvements of the school and any other topics they may feel we can help with; however for individual day to day matters please pass all your thoughts through your child's teacher and/or Mr Batstone.

We are very positive about our school and the team of staff that are highly committed within it and it is therefore our wish that the school moves forward constructively, building on the many values we have at present.
