

WFH - short burst and other learning - Monday May 11th

Hello all,

Please find attached the photo to inspire writing this week. It is a relevant picture for the current situation and may lead to some further discussion.

Who is the child ?

Why have they chosen to change their toy ?

What toy would you invent ?

What does a superhero actually do ?

Invent your own hero. Draw and label your own superhero.

Lots of scope for different ideas and 'spin offs' if you or your child wants.

Also attached is a Swedish quote which is very relevant for our time. If you want an extra writing/creative challenge then add to or invent your own 'quote.'

Don't forget to share your work as we love to see it and it gives us ideas. A child in school did some writing last week and invented a title of 'An hour before yesterday' and we started to think about the book or film that that could be the title of..... what do you think ?

Good luck

kind regards

Mr Batstone
