Celebrities outraged because of photoshopping

You may have seen the film 'Spider Man Home Coming', well did you know the actor who plays MJ, Zendaya, is against Photoshop. Photoshop is an app that allows you to take a photo and edit it, to change the appearance of someone. Zendaya posted an image on social media showing one picture that had been photoshopped and another image that had not been photoshopped. She told people that if they saw the picture that had been photoshopped, it wasn't as her natural body, and she wish they hadn't made the changes. The company hadn't even told her that they made the changes to make the magazine more attractive.

More people are now against Photoshop because it is pure lying, it breaks trust since companies have been using it to make their products look more efficient, when they really just edited it to look nice. The one thing people are more ashamed of is when they photoshopped a person and make them look flawless. This can make people feel anxious because they don't look like the people in all the magazines. They think that is bad and that they are not normal, some people even restrict to diets which can do them more harm than good.

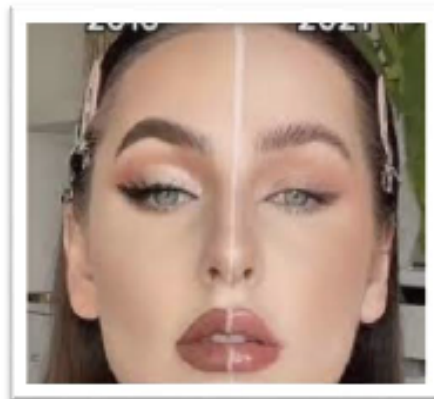

In some ways though Photoshop is a good thing, it can save fuel and help the planet because you can Photoshop backgrounds as well as the person. This also means you can play around with the lighting and the colour of the sky and buildings around you. People also like playing around with this app for fun just to see what they can create.
